White-hats.co.uk – The Intelligent Response to Hackers and Insiders

We are all involved in protecting our organisations from criminals, hackers and insider attacks. There is so much to read, study and respond to ...

White-hats.co.uk was set up in May 2002 by First Base Technologies LLP with the aim of providing a new way to exchange information and learn about threats as they emerge. The group currently provides a vendor-neutral knowledge base for over 350 information security professionals via regular meetings, workshops and a discussion group.

All prospective members are required to adhere to the Chatham House Rule¹, prior to being admitted as members. This allows open discussion of key issues in a confidential environment.

Membership is open to information security professionals from UK business and government.

Benefits of Membership

- ✓ Regular meetings to exchange information and learn about threats as they emerge
- ✓ Occasional white-hats.co.uk workshops
- ✓ Key information security topics explained in depth by experts
